SHELTERED WORKSHOP BOON TO CLIENTS

By Art Thrall

PORTERVILLE — Nowhere has the practical application of the city's motto, "Friendliness Is Porterville," borne more fruit than in the Sheltered Workshop.

What started in a borrowed building as a chance for seven developmentally handicapped individuals to learn to be useful, productive citizens, has grown to encompass about 127 such persons and is purchasing its own properties and equipment valued at nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

Its progress was sparked by citizens of Porterville who practiced the city's motto and supported the idea of Lucille "Lupe" Hahn, who founded the Sheltered Workshop in 1956.

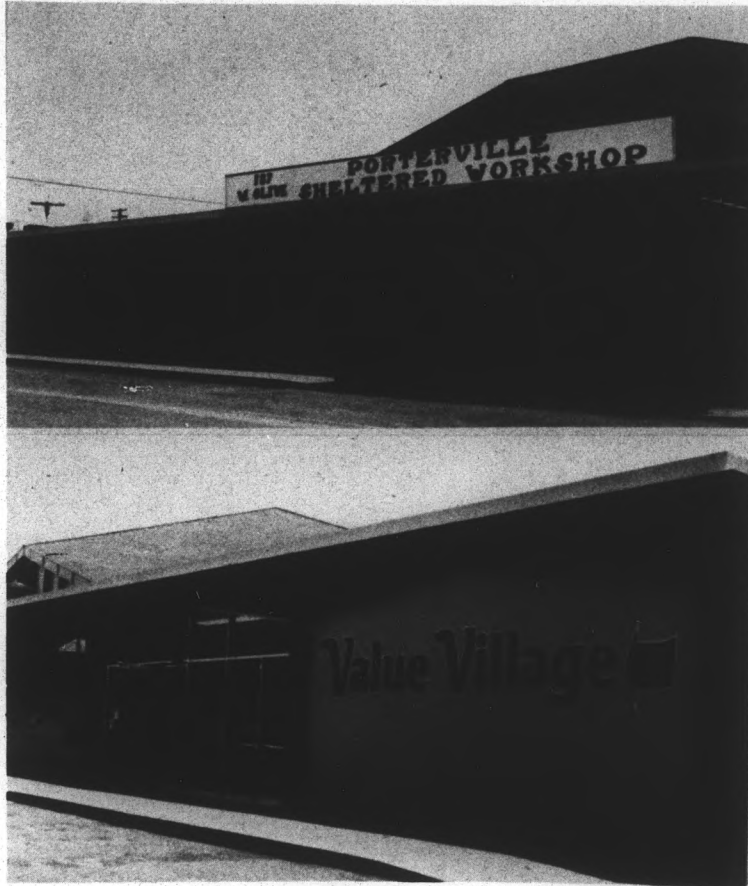

As testimony of its success, officials of the organization recently dedicated the old Purity store at 187 West Olive, as the Sheltered Workshop's main headquarters. It has literally outgrown other quarters it had occupied through the years!

It hasn't all been accomplished by city residents, who "own and operate" the facility, according to Steve Tree, executive director. But he emphasizes that they had and still are having a good deal to do with its accomplishments.

According to the idea which originated the facility, developmentally handicapped persons in the area needed a place in which they could put what talents they had to good use. By this they could help support themselves, feel important, and make a useful contribution to society.

The first effort started in an old World War II surplus building at the south edge of the Olive Street School campus.

Projects for the "clients" involved collecting and sorting old clothing for salvage, small assembly jobs, picking up papers and trash after large public gatherings, collecting old newspapers and magazines, and other simple tasks that fell within their abilities.

Financing came from payment for tasks accomplished and products produced at the workshop and from contributions from individuals and organizations in the community. At first the budget of the program was less than $2,000 per year.

The Sheltered Workshop idea, began to take hold. More clients became interested and started taking part. More projects that the clients could accomplish were added to the growing list, and before long the old borrowed building became too small.

Sparked by the Breakfast Lions club, a drive was started to collect funds and donations to construct a new facility for the program. In December of 1968 the structure was completed at 130 North E, and a total of 16

PANTHER BAND LEAVES WEDNESDAY TO REPRESENT CALIFORNIA IN PHILADELPHIA'S JULY 4TH PARADE

PORTERVILLE — The Panther band from Porterville high school will take to the air Wednesday evening from Bakersfield en route to Philadelphia to appear as California's official Bicentennial band when Philadelphia celebrates America's 200th birthday on July 4.

The band, under direction of Buck Shaffer, will march in a giant parade through Philadelphia, and will participate in an official ceremony in which America's birthday cake will be cut.

In the group will be 160 Panther band musicians, the band's drill team, majorettes, Orange Blossoms, flag girls, and chaperons, plus the Porterville high school chorus. Director of the chorus is Larry Brumley; director of the drill team is Cherise Shanes.

In addition the Plano 4-H club's historic flag display group will make the trip, along with a number of parents, interested persons, members of both the Porterville and Tulare County Bicentennial commissions, the Tulare County Historical society, and school officials.

Two United Airline 747s have been chartered for the Porterville contingent that will total some 450 persons - the largest single group to ever fly off the Bakersfield airport.

During the nine-day trip the Porterville group will visit historic sites in Boston, New York City, Philadelphia, Concord, Washington, D.C., Arlington cemetery, Valley Forge, Gettysburg, and Mt. Vernon; concerts will be presented at a number of historic spots.

One highlight of the trip will be the placing of a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington cemetery, the playing of taps at the graves of three Porterville service men buried there, and the presentation of a

The trip culminates an 18-month plan presented to the District School board in which it was stated that all people on this bicentennial tour would pay their own way in the tradition of the American way of life.

Country-Western Festival In Jamison Stadium

AMONG TOP talent appearing at the country-western festival in Jamison Stadium tomorrow night will be Jerry Gatlin, performer and song-writer. He will headline a cast of half a dozen top country and western stars performing locally under sponsorship of the Porterville College Patrons association and Buccaneer club.

PORTERVILLE — A country-western festival featuring some of the top talent in the field will be presented at 8 p.m. Friday in Jamison stadium.

Sponsored by the Porterville College Patrons Foundation and Buccaneer club, the festival will headline Larry Gatlin with a supporting cast of Red (I'm A Truck) Simpson, Laurel Lee Brown and Steve "Bulldog" Bivins and The Bulldoggers.

Gatlin, who not only has a number of hit records to his credit as a performer, is also an accomplished song writer. His biggest hit which went to Number 1 across the nation was "She's A Broken Lady." "Warm and Tender" and "The Heart" are also big Gatlin hits.

Simpson has appeared at all the top country spots in the nation, including Grand Old Opry, Buck Owens show, Merle Haggard Show and in Carnegie Hall.

Adding beauty as well as talent to the show is Laurel Lee Brown, who was "discovered" by the late Cousin Herb Henson as a youngster in Bakersfield. She has appeared and recorded with Frankie Lane and has just recorded two of Merle Haggard's hits, "Turn Me On With Love" and "I Can't Live That Way."

Backing up the recording artists will be Bivins and "The Bulldoggers," featuring Uncle Eddie Howard, Brian Dunn, Bob Morrell and Allan Flaa.

Queen candidate registration deadline is July 1. Interested applicants may register by calling Burl Cleary, 539-2415 or Mrs. Marilyn Tompkins, 539-2417.

Candidates must be between the ages of 6 and 16. Judging will be based on 50 per cent horsemanship; personality and appearance will count for 15 per cent; and special ticket sales will account for the remaining 35 per cent.

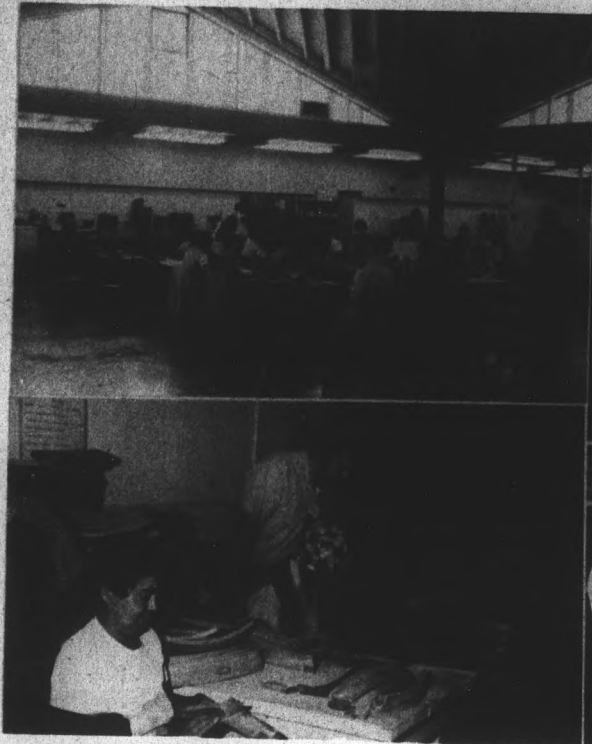

Each candidate is awarded 25 per cent of her ticket sales with the balance going for expenses and prizes for the queen and other candidates.

The girl selected as queen to rule over the annual event will receive a $100 U.S. Savings bond and a gold charm bracelet. First and second runnersup receive $50 bonds each and silver charm bracelets. The remaining candidates receive silver charm bracelets.

The annual Junior Rodeo is sponsored by the Springville Veterans of Foreign Wars post under a contract with the Gene Clark association.

RUSSELL LERDA, of Tulare, with his 9000 pound class modified tractor won top honors in his class at a Pacific Tractor Pullers' association contest on the Tulare county fairgrounds, in Tulare, Saturday. Competing in the meet, sponsored by the Tulare Breakfast Lions, were 60 drivers, including Bob Fallert Jr. and Nick Serafin, of the Porterville area. Tractor pulling contest will be one of the highlight features of the 1976 Tulare County Fair in September.

PLAQUE DEDICATION and Open House the weekend of June 12 marked expansion of the Porterville Sheltered Workshop into its new, 15,000 square foot building at 187 West Olive (the old Purity building) with left photos showing instructional areas inside the building; at upper right, County

Supervisor Ray Muller; Kent Kilburn, a past Sheltered Workshop board member; Ken Goodwin, current Workshop board president, and Steve Tree, executive director of the workshop look over a loom used in the workshop; at lower right, participating in dedication ceremony, Goodwin; Brent Borum, a board member; Lupe Hahn, who started the original Sheltered Workshop in 1956; Earl Smith, Porterville mayor; and County Supervisor Don Hillman. clients moved from the old building to the new to continue operations.

More skills were added to the growing list of what the clients could accomplish. One of these was the operation of the old Bendix Launderette at 78 East Oak. It is still in operation.

Not only did the number of clients working in the facility continue to increase but customers began to take more advantage of services offered. Yard maintenance service was added and a contract was made with the city for clients of the Sheltered Workshop to keep city parking lots clean.

Again the quarters became cramped and a section was added to the E street facility to handle the growing activities. A printing facility was part of the addition.

But growth continued and in an effort to accommodate all of the clients and projects, the Elks Boy Scout clubhouse near the Barn Theater was pressed into service.

It was tough to administer and supervise with the organization scattered between three locations, so in desperation officials of the Sheltered Workshop looked around and finally came up with the old Purity store building on West Olive as a possible site.

Negotiations were started with the owners, the University of Chicago, and eventually a purchase was arranged and the deal consummated. After remodeling, the Sheltered Workshop operations were moved to the big building where there is still room for more expansion and the addition of even more projects for the clients.

The facility now includes an average daily work force of 127 with a full-time staff of 22 supervisory personnel and two bus drivers. Nine staffers are credentialed teachers, two are degreed counselors.

The Sheltered Workshop is administered by a board of directors composed of 15 interested local citizens, headed by Ken Goodwin, a local banker.

It has an annual budget of $300,000. Contrary to a common belief the organization is not a part of Porterville State Hospital for the mentally retarded.

But, despite all the projects carried out by the clients, Tree said the organization is not self-supporting and still needs community support in addition to support of other agencies who deal with the developmentally handicapped.

He noted that projects bring in about $60,000 annually. Other funds to cover the budget come from private contributions. The Central Valley Regional Center, State Department of Rehabilitation, and Kings View Corporation through the Porterville Community Counseling Center. These organizations reimburse the workshop for rehabilitation services rendered and shop supplies.

The workshop also operates the "Value Village" thrift store for what Tree calls "experienced items." These are used goods collected in a chain of "Eco Huts" placed at various locations in the city. The venture is a joint endeavor between the Sheltered Workshop and Good Shepherd Lutheran Home of the West near Terra Bella.

With the acquisition of the new headquarters, Tree envisions more benefits for the local clients. One of them involves a program for about 50 low developmental level "adults" in the retained E street "Activity Center" to teach achievement activities such as basic survival skills as in dialing police and fire departments on the phone, basic vocational skills requiring hand-eye coordination, and work habits such as starting and completing simple tasks.

Tree noted that the Sheltered Workshop clients do best in small assembly or piece work such as stuffing envelopes, stamping work, putting nuts and bolts together, or projects requiring repetition of developed movements.

But best of all, the clients learn and earn. They are paid on piece work just as in a regular factory situation, and if it is not a piece work type project, the participants are paid a percentage of the overall job.

All in all, the Sheltered Workshop is a valuable asset for the developmentally handicapped in our community and also to businesses or firms who can use its services.

And from an idea by a local woman several years ago, the residents of Porterville, through their support and contributions, have made some of the less fortunate feel like a worthwhile part of our society. Truly, "Friendliness is Porterville."

Tickets are being sold in advance at $4 with $5 the price at the box office the night of the festival. They are available at Finance & Thrift, Williams Jewelers, and Jones Hardware, as well as from individual members of the Patrons Foundation and the Buccaneer club.

Framing Shop, Gallery Doubles Previous Size

PORTERVILLE — Ribbon cutting ceremonies today celebrated an expansion and started the second year of a family business which began as a hobby three-and-a-half years ago.

Owned and operated by Evelyn and Bruce Burford and Edna and Wesley Newman, the Frame Shop opened for business one year ago in an 18 by 38 foot area of the old Porterville Recorder building at 39 West Putnam.

Today, an additional similar space was officially opened next door to the original facility to accommodate ample wall area for display of framed artwork, space for a large mounting press, and a shrink-wrap service.

Open print bins have been added on one wall and growing art classes held at the facility will also utilize the extra space under three art instructors: Jan Williams, Lucille Faure, and Richard Norbeck.

The public is invited to stop by and inspect the overall facility.

Edison has over 80 conservation tips. Here are a few:

REDUCE YOUR COST OF COOLING.

Here are 6 ways to do it.

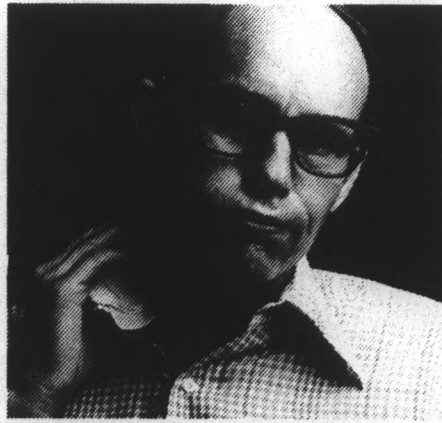

1. Keep temperature at 78° or higher.

The less difference there is between inside and outside temperatures, the lower the air conditioning cost. If you have a room air conditioner, use a thermometer to see that the room temperature drops no lower than 78°. Remember: air conditioning is not to make you cold — just comfortable.

2. Insulate your attic. If your attic isn't properly insulated, you could be using too much energy for air conditioning. (Too much energy to heat your home, too.) For information, see your local insulation contractor.

3. Air condition only rooms in use.

If you have a room unit, keep all doors closed to the room you're cooling. When the children (or family pet) go outside, don't forget to close the door. Keep the windows closed, too. And draw your draperies and blinds. Outside awnings or other sun screens will also reduce your cooling needs.

4. Consider an automatic timer.

Timer attachments are available that will turn off your room air conditioner when you are away from home and turn it on before you return.

5. Keep equipment clean. Clean accessible parts, but be careful not to damage them. Check filters every month and clean or replace as needed.

6. Investigate an energy-saving unit.

If you're in the market for a room air conditioner, compare the Energy Efficiency Ratio rating. The higher the efficiency, the more cooling you get from the electricity you use.

Ducor's Dutch Frontier

DUCOR — If one were to make a list of the 10 best restaurants in the Central Valley, the Dutch Frontier in this southernmost Tulare County community would be somewhere in the rankings.

It is handsomely situated in a false front general merchandise building constructed before the turn of the century on the main street of this tiny hamlet on Highway 65, about 15 miles south of Porterville.

The 80-year-old frame building has been restored, inside and out, in a delightful early day theme. Rich woods and artifacts, including a buggy, from pioneer farming, ranching and trapping days take one back to frontier times when Dutch settlers came to the area. Indeed, the name of the village is a shortened version of what the place was called way back then, Dutch Corners.

Diners may have the choice of window booths looking upon a scene of bears (stuffed) coming to drink below a waterfall.

On the front of the building is an 8x27-foot mural of a dozen or so life-size figures of Ducor pioneers, painted from a photograph (taken in the 1890s) by the late Porterville artist, Arthur "Tex" Carrolton. And in the basement banquet room are a series of paintings by Bay Area artist Kay Winton, depicting the village of Ducor of yesteryear.

Even the backbar is a conversation piece, so to speak. It was used in an early day Visalia hotel saloon, but was found by Dutch Frontier owner Buddy Galusha in a Goshen second-hand store.

AROUND HERE
By Woody Laughnan

GALUSHA, still in his 20s, is also the restorer and cook.

The menu is good news all the way around, limited in the number of entrees, but all good. And kerosene lamps on the table give the place a warm ranchhouse smell.

Dinner begins with a hearty, crisp salad and the house dressing, dry rouquefort, red wine vinegar and oil, is very good. There is a choice of cowboy or fresh baked potato, but by all means try Galusha's cowboy concoction, baked potatoes thick cut in a skillet and fried with the skins on, with butter and onions and bell pepper. The corn-on-the-cob is wrapped in foil and cooked on the broiler.

Entrees include steaks, $8 for a half-pound filet and $9 for 14 ounce New Yorks and rib eyes. And there is lobster, (half pound), $9; and halibut, $8.

Extra cut, up to 18 ounce steaks and two half pound lobster tails, are $12 to $14.

There are champagne dinners for two which offer rack of lamb (by special reservation), $30; steak and lobster, $25; or double-cut rib eye, $22.

Or if you have a party of four, by all means try the Frontier Special, two 18 ounce rib eyes, four 5-6 ounce lobster tails and a bottle of champagne, $50.

Dessert, ice cream or sherbet, and coffee or tea, are included in the prices.

FROM FRESNO, the best route to Ducor is Highway 99 to Earlimart and then directly east. There is full lounge and wine service. There are no children's portions and a one-dinner minimum, regardless of the child's age. The Dutch Frontier is open Wednesday through Saturday from 6 to 10 p.m., and on Sunday from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. Reservations are preferred, particularly on weekends.

FRESNO — The U.S. Navy Recruiting command will enlist an all San Joaquin valley recruit training company in ceremonies set during a special enlistment banquet to be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, in the Grand Ballroom of the Fresno Hilton hotel.

Local area participants will include Dana Adams, Joseph Delaossa, Cameron Hamilton, and Warren Rooney of Porterville; Kenneth Awbrey of Exeter; Nelson Nickell of Hot Springs; David Sims of Lindsay; and Primitivo Racca of Poplar.

Highway Patrol Joins Fight To Prevent Fires

SACRAMENTO — Due to this year's drought and the resulting extreme fire hazard predicted throughout the state during the summer vacation months, Commissioner Glen Craig said California Highway Patrol employees will take "extraordinary measures" to prevent forest and brush fires and will cooperate to the "maximum extent possible with the State Division of Forestry."

Craig said CHP officers have been instructed to be "especially vigorous in the enforcement of fire prevention laws and regulations on the highways," such as the law against throwing burning material from vehicles and similar violations.

Commanders of CHP field offices were instructed to brief all employees on the need to adopt "alert, aggressive actions and procedures to observe, report and suppress any and all fires." Area commanders were also urged to stress the importance of fire safety during traffic safety programs conducted by CHP officers, and to brief all employees in fire-safe actions and procedures.

Craig noted that during 1975, on state and federal lands, in California, there were 12,520 wildfires which burned 239,000 acres. With brush and forested areas unusually dry this year it will take "special precautions to prevent a worse record in 1976."

BEAUTIFUL SETTING and excellent facilities, plus action in annual All-Indian rodeo, were highlights of weekend entertainment on the Tule River Indian reservation. . . The Farm Tribune camera takes a look around.

Dog Vaccination, License Period Begins On July 1

VISALIA — County Clerk-Recorder Jay C. Bayless has announced that all current Tulare county dog and kennel licenses will expire on June 30th. Dog and kennel owners are reminded that the licensing period for purchasing 1976-77 licenses will begin July 1st. Bayless said letters containing complete instructions for renewing licenses will be mailed to all owners of presently licensed dog and kennel owners before July 1st.

Tulare County allows dog and kennel owners to purchase licenses between July 1st and August 31st without penalty. However, a delinquency penalty amounting to 100 per cent of the basic license fee, as set forth in the Tulare county ordinance code, is imposed on and after September 1st. All dogs found running at large during the penalty free period wearing no license tag are subject to being picked up by the county poundmaster.

Base licensing fees this year have not changed from last year and are as follows: for male or female dogs - $5.00; for neutered or spayed - $2.50; for kennel licenses - $10.00.

The Tulare county ordinance code requires that an owner of a dog secure a license for his dog within 30 days after acquiring ownership; if a dog is less than four months of age when the owner acquires it, he shall secure a license for the dog within 30 days after the dog becomes four months of age. The ordinance also requires any person who enters and dwells within the county for a period of 30 days or more, and who has brought a dog with him from outside the county, to secure a license for the dog within 30 days after arrival in the county.

In order to obtain a dog license the owner must present a valid rabies vaccination certificate showing that the dog has been protected against rabies for the entire licensing period for which the license is being purchased. Dog licenses are not obtainable at Rabies Vaccination Clinics but may be purchased in person or by mail from the office of the County Clerk, Room 201, Courthouse, Visalia. Rabies vaccination certificates obtained from veterinarians contain an application and licensing section.

Bayless stressed that applications must be filled out completely and must contain the signature of the applicant. He urges all dog owners to purchase licenses commencing July 1st, in order to avoid the delinquency penalty, but stated no 1976-77 license can be sold by his office prior to July 1st. July 1st through August 31st allows the dog owner 60 days to purchase a license free of penalty.

The Tulare-Kings Counties Veterinary Medical Association and the Tulare County Health Department have established a schedule of clinics for vaccination of dogs against rabies.

Locally vaccinations will be held 5-6 p.m. Saturday, July 10, Camp Nelson Fire station; 4-8 p.m. Monday, July 12, Porterville fairgrounds; 6-7 p.m. Tuesday, July 13, Springville fire station; 6-8 p.m. Tuesday, July 13, Terra Bella fire station; 6-8 p.m. Wednesday, July 14, Strathmore fire station; 6-8 p.m. Thursday, July 15, Lindsay city hall; and 6-8 p.m. Friday, July 16, Cotton Center, Gillespie Ag.

Cotton is generally making fair growth but slowed up during the cool weather.
